

8 WEEK CREATIVE WRITING SHORT COURSE

Unlock your inner author, learn how to convey your thoughts and imagination in a concise, eloquent way.

Open Ealing Arts Centre
18 Sept – 6 Nov 2025
Thursdays from 7.30pm – 9.00pm
Limited spots – book now!

TURN PAGE FOR DETAILS

Writing for the word curious.

ABOUT THE COURSE

Are you a budding writer, a devoted blogger, or a book lover who secretly dreams of writing your own story?

Whether you've lost your writing rhythm or are still searching for the courage to begin, this course is your invitation to start (or restart) your creative journey.

Scribbles in the Stars is an 8-week course designed to spark inspiration, introduce practical techniques, and help you explore the writer within for adults of all ages.

Facilitated by Trish Beaver – a seasoned feature journalist and storyteller with decades of writing experience, this course is about more than just learning how to write. It's about finding your voice in a world full of noise. As visual communication becomes more dominant, Trish believes writing remains a powerful tool to shape meaning, deepen understanding, and capture the richness of our shared human experience.

Whether you're exploring personal reflections, working on a novel, or just longing to play with words again, this course offers a safe, encouraging space to write with intention and joy.

After each lesson there will be a task to complete. All work produced for the course will be given feedback.

Participants who attend will be given the chance to join a FB writers support group

Cost: £160 (£20 per week)

Bookings: www.ealingopen.com

Email: scribblesinthestars@gmail.com
info@openealing.com